DEAN'S CHALLENGE

We need your help now to increase our ability to support our students learning experience and allow them to continue to benefit by completing internships that have sent them everywhere from the developing world to the White House and Capitol Hill.

It only takes $2,500 in internship funding to support a student's experiential learning. For our students, this money means the difference between a relevant summer experience or taking a "job" just to make ends meet.

So, the Dean's Challenge to the School of Public Policy community is to raise $250,000 in internship funding by June 30th.

The School will allocate $2 of funding for student internship support for every $1 raised in private donations from our alumni, our faculty and staff and our friends.

For private donations from our students, the school will allocate $4 for every $1 in private donation.

We will allocate up to $500,000 specifically for this purpose; the first $250,000 in private donations will provide a total of $750,000 for internship support.

Your gift, no matter what size, will make a real difference and will ensure that our Public Policy students can still pay their bills while exploring a meaningful hands-on learning experience.

Thank You!
